THE ART OF PRESENTATION

Adam Simha

“A great knife can change your life. I believe that one perfect knife can change your life in so far as it changes the way you relate to preparing and eating food for the positive.”

Adam’s original knife designs are based on over 20 years of knife making, his own professional kitchen experience, and the custom knives he has built for working chefs. He provides service for these knives exclusively, giving him first hand feedback on every detail from material to blade shape to edge geometry, to hardness, to hardware.

The History

In 1995 Adam took a welding class on a whim and was immediately swept up by the opportunity to make dreams come to life in metal through the magic of fire and electricity. Continuing his studies in metalwork, Adam enrolled in a bladesmithing class with master bladesmith J.D. Smith. Once again, he found the door flung open to a banquet of irresistible possibilities and challenges.

“The knives I began making and enjoyed the most turned out to be knives for cooking, which brought me full circle back to the sphere of culinary arts.”

Features & Benefits

Each knife is hand crafted to a professional grade, perfectly balanced and made from 13/0 Stainless Steel (13% Chromium & 0% Nickel). The handle is made from recyclable lumber, resulting in a circular waste free process that's hard wearing.

The Adam Simha Steak Knife collection comprises of 3 designs; The part serrated Burlington, Kendall, and the non-serrated Lowell.

The part serrated blade design of Burlington and Kendall brings a popular combination to add versatility to the cutting action. A serrated end provides an added benefit for rigorous cutting needs, whilst the non-serrated blade allows for a strong and steady pressure to glide through food with a clean cut. The latter can be found in its entirety in the non-serrated Lowell knife.
